

Facing

8,848 meters

From historical alpine explorations to contemporary migration, this section looks at the mountain as a permanent space of passage, embodying the constant quest for new peaks and territories and, today, the challenges faced by migrants in these frontier areas.